For Thinking Australians...

Even if Anna-Jane Cheney was murdered - and there is enormous doubt surrounding that event - Henry Vincent Keogh is innocent of that crime. His conviction on 23 August 1995 was obtained by convincing a jury of a murder scenario which was not "fairly open on the evidence".

It was a trial which unfairly and fraudulently allowed fabricated statements and inexcusable perjury - a trial which repeatedly shut out the truth. These facts have been known for more than 16 years.

In keeping with our international human rights obligations and our own High Court decisions, the Supreme Court of South Australia can no longer wilfully turn its back. It is obliged to set aside Henry Keogh's conviction and enter a verdict of acquittal. Until then he must remain innocent in the minds of all Australians.

This could happen to you!...

Adelaide, South Australia.

An unfinished true story which began with all the elements pointing to murder... The body of a young woman found dead in her bath... A distraught fiancé... A grieving father's dislike of his daughter's relationship... A conniving forensic pathologist - and friend of the father - who fabricates the necessary evidence to support a murder scenario.

But the cards were only just beginning to stack against justice... A Coroner now orders the cremation of her body before sufficient forensic testing could be carried out.
